1. The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-10 and 12-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The recitation of the heat exchanger for generating cold air to cool the ice cream is not clearly shown or described. Furthermore, the showing of the insert 9 in Fig. 1 is not clear. It is especially unclear as to how the insert as shown can be filled with ice cream outside the housing 2, as described on page 13, lines 25-26 of the specification. As shown in Fig. 1, the insert 9 appears to be an open device, with just the plates 20 and walls 21 which appear to be blades of some sort. There appears to be no type of enclosure which can hold liquid ice cream mix to be frozen. Also, the receiving compartment protruding laterally from the housing is not described or shown. The selector switch for the types of ice cream located in different segments of the insert is also not described or shown.

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-3, 7-10, 12, 16, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Parker. Parker discloses an ice cream freezer with a housing 1, storage device 12 having a receiving compartment for the ice cream, and a heat exchanger 30. The heat exchanger inherently generates cold air in the space between the housing 1 and the storage device 12. The storage device is rotated by motor 11.

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Parker in view of Gonzalez, Sr. Parker discloses the claimed invention except for the door switch for interrupting the rotation of the insert. Gonzalez, Sr. teaches a rotating machine having a door and a switch for interrupting the rotation of the machine when the door is opened. It would be obvious to provide Parker with a switch for the door 15, in view of Gonzalez, Sr., for the purpose of preventing rotation of the container when the door is opened.

8. Claims 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Parker in view of Anderson. Parker discloses the claimed invention except for the fan for circulating air. Anderson teaches an ice cream freezer having an air circulating fan 12 therefor. It would be obvious to provide Parker with an air circulating fan, in view of Anderson, for the purpose of increasing the freezing effect.

9. Claims 11 and 18 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on July 27, 2005.

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
